MAKE THE MOST OUT OF YOUR LUGGAGE, DUFFLE OR BACKPACK SPACE by Kathleen /PackSmart Pro

Garment folder holds 8-12 folded cotton business shirts or blouses. Garment folders come with a folding board to assist in folding your shirt/blouse. Instructions on how to fold are on the front of the board.

Lay your cotton shirt flat, place the folding board on the back of your shirt. Fold the sides up to meet the size of the board. The folding board helps you fold your shirt to the right size to fit the width of the folder. Once your shirt is folded with the board, pull the board out at the top of your shirt back.

Stack folded shirts with the front facing up and rotate the collars when stacked to keep a flat square pile and your collars from getting smashed.

Stack 8 - 12 cotton shirts or add two pairs of jeans, slacks, or shorts with 6 cotton shirts. Add shorts or ties on top of folded shirts.

If you want to add pants or shorts into your folder, Start with laying flat your pants in first. Lay one pair of pants on the folder, legs laying straight out and then add a second pair of pants on top of the previous pants with the waists at opposite ends with legs straight out. Then place your stacked folded shirts on top of the pants.

Bring one pant leg from one side over the stacked folded shirts and then bring the next pant leg over until they flap over each other. Fold pant legs over again if your legs are longer.

Bring in the side flaps and use Velcro to keep flaps overlapping and tight compression. Bring the top flap and bottom flaps up and use the Velcro attached to keep folder compressed tightly and wrapped shut.
